Computer Pinger Crack+ For Windows [Latest]

This software allows you to listen to the status of the listed IP addresses. In order to do this, you need to connect to the remote computer via the internet or a local network. Simply select a remote computer and press the Start button, in order to determine its online status. The software will ping the computer, then save the last connection status. You can choose the time period for which the status will be saved, or set up the ping automatically. In addition, the program can also verify the network status of the remote computers, and even their connection to the Internet. This is especially useful for users that want to stay informed about the connection status of many computers from just one PC. A small, yet useful application Users of this software will find it to be useful and easy to use. It requires no additional installation, and works out of the box, without making any changes to the system's configuration. We tested the application thoroughly, and it proved to be quite reliable and fast. The interface is simple, and it only contains a menu bar, buttons and boxes. This means it is highly user-friendly, and you can work with it even if you don't know how to configure the Internet. With this application, you can find out the IP address of your router, or other internet connection devices, such as a modem or a wireless access point. Also, you can find out which local network device is connected, and where your computer is located. Bottom line The application that this software provides is a good starting point for all those users who want to get information about their computers, and verify their online status. It is a small, yet efficient application, which will suit your needs and offer you a user-friendly interface. Weblium Browser is a free web browser for Windows PC with built-in search engine. What's New In Computer Pinger?

Computer Pinger is a simple utility that is designed to help you verify if a certain IP address or NetBIOS name is currently in use. This software is also portable, meaning that you can bypass the installation process. This means that the Windows registry will not be affected in any way, and no files will remain after its removal. This program features include: • The ability to ping a specified IP address or NetBIOS name, at a specified period time (in seconds). • The ability to save the data received to the hard drive, in a TXT format. • The ability to capture the sound effects when a ping request is made. • The ability to easily copy the source code, for those of you who want to make your own modifications to the program. You can download Computer Pinger right now, from Softonic: Description: Computer Pinger is a small, yet useful software tool that was developed in order to help you verify if a certain IP address or NetBIOS name is currently in use. This utility is portable, which means that you can bypass the installation process. This means the Windows registry will not be affected in any way, and no files will remain after its removal. What's more, Computer Pinger can be used on any PC you have access to, by simply dropping its program files to an external data device, such as a USB flash drive. Easy to handle environment The interface you come by is quite simple, as it only contains a menu bar, a few buttons and boxes, so as to help you perform all available actions. As a result, all user categories can work with it, without experiencing any kind of problem. Verify status and save info to the PC As mentioned above, it is possible to ping an IP address and NetBIOS name, at a specified period time (expressed in seconds). This software utility will display, almost automatically, the status and last checked time. You can append sound effects, save the information received to the hard drive, in a TXT format. The output location cannot be specified by the user, which is considered to be a small setback. Nonetheless, you should know that the data will be saved in the same directory as the app. Bottom line All in all, Computer Pinger is a tiny, yet highly efficient piece of software. It has a good response time, a user-friendly environment and our tests have shown it is quite friendly to the system's resources. User Reviews This software was the best I've tried in a long time. It will save your time. Martin Thé 02/10/2017 Rating Pros It worked well for me. I'm not sure why others complain.
