Come on.Q: Dealing with change request in GitLab I have access to GitLab on both my workstation and at my office. Whenever I change something in GitLab, it's automatically pushed to our GitLab server. However, when I do push and pull on my workstation, the changes that I have made on my workstation are not reflected in GitLab. What could be the issue here? A: The changes you make to your local repo are only synced to the server when you push to the server (git push) or pull from the server (git pull) and not when you simply work on your desktop (working copy). This is by design. Make sure your working copy matches the revision on the server before you push it. If you have unfinished work, you can lock your working copy with git commit -a. /* * Copyright (C) 2019 The Android Open Source Project * * Licensed under the Apache License, Version 2.0 (the "License"); * you may not use this file except in compliance with the License. * You may obtain a copy of the License at * * * * Unless required by applicable law or agreed to in writing, software * distributed under the License is distributed on 3e33713323
