Understanding layer types A _layer_ in Photoshop is the same as a layer in a drawing program or a page in a word processing document. But in Photoshop layers can contain color, type, and even more elements. You also can add layers to each other, and with those layers you can create any type of composite image you can imagine. Any of the following types of objects can be added to a Photoshop file as layers: * Layer, track matte, or clipping mask: You can add color, shape, and texture layers and masks to images. * Smart object: A _Smart object_ is a layer that is basically a shortcut to a collection of objects placed in a group. When you apply any effect to a Smart Object, the group of objects is applied to the image, so you end up with a collection of grouped objects. A Smart Object can only be added to a single file at a time. * **

LIGHT ART Exhibits: A Rally to the Fleece Saturday, February 28, 2010, 3 pm NYU Gallatin School of Individualized Study 136 West Third Street, New York, NY 10012 This lecture by Erika Carter, Artist, and Cathy Raddatz, Gallery Director of Light Art, will be followed by a visit to the Light Art gallery. Light Art is New York's only multi-disciplinary gallery specializing in kinetic and illuminated performance art. It is curated by the artists Erika Carter and Cathy Raddatz. One of the gallery's former exhibitions was accompanied by a matching 3-story exhibiton which traveled through Central Park, and was seen by over a million people. The gallery, the artists, and the exhibition have been profiled in the New York Times, Village Voice, The New Yorker, Harper's Bazaar, The Wall Street Journal, Domino, Italian, City Journal, Frieze Magazine, The Art Newspaper, Time Out New York, and Artforum International Magazine. The gallery specializes in kinetic and illuminated performance art, and stages events on the Fourth of July, Kristallnacht on Adlerhorst, and the anniversary of Kristallnacht. Note: Light Art gallery hours: Tuesdays through Fridays 10am–6pm, Saturdays 10am–5pm, and Sundays 1pm–4pm Free admission. Light Art is located just a block from the Third Avenue 4/5 train; the NYU Gallatin Subway station is less than a block north. Directly across the street is the Prospect Park B5 train. The One to One Bus serves the area from the NYU Center for Jewish Life on Third Avenue and Fifth Avenue.” infra. In light of the particular facts of this case, the Court declines to follow the Sixth Circuit's holding in Morgan. The Sixth Circuit's ruling seems to focus exclusively on the defendant's failure to include a complete objection to the PSI within the ten-day window in Rule 32(f). The Sixth Circuit holds that a defendant's failure to include an objection to the PSI within the ten- day window of Rule 32(f), without more, constitutes a waiver. See Morgan, 437 F.3d at 658-59. The Sixth Circuit does not say, however,

Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a light-emitting device package, and more particularly to a light-emitting device package having an input/output electrode and a pad that can be separately assembled. 2. Description of the Related Art LEDs are small, consume less power, and have a long life, thus attracting attention as a light source for the next generation. As a technique for the implementation of a light-emitting device using a light-emitting device chip, a light-emitting device package will be described below. A conventional light-emitting device package is formed by mounting a substrate in a cavity formed in a package substrate and disposing a light-emitting device chip in the cavity on the substrate. Japanese Unexamined Patent Application Publication No. H09-336401 describes a method of using a mold resin to ensure electrical insulation between the light-emitting device chip and the substrate in such a light-emitting device package. As an example of a technique for ensuring electrical insulation, a method of using a transparent resin material, which transmits light, as a mold resin is known. In this case, for example, a light-transmitting electroconductive layer is formed on an insulating layer of the substrate and in the mold resin, to which the light-emitting device chip is bonded, and the mold resin also penetrates into the light-emitting device chip to electrically connect the light-emitting device chip to the substrate
