(1) Processing by Nucleocapsid Protease. We shall characterize the processing of the nuclear export protein (NP), and the viral RNA packaging protein (PA). (2) Proteolytic maturation of the virus. We will study the processing of each of the major matrix proteins of influenza by endoprotease. The enzymatic specificity will be studied, and we shall determine if the matrix proteins are cleaved at consensus cleavage sites. (3) The nuclear migration of mRNPs, and the role of NP in this process will be studied by in situ hybridization. (4) In collaboration with Merck Chemical Co., we shall characterize the function of the hemagglutinin esterase that has been encoded on the A/WSN/33 virus genome by alterations in the esterase gene. I don't know if it's just me, but it looks like the lead debug graphics give me a really bad headache. The graphics seem to be really pixelated and streaky. I played a few games with this one and it looks pretty nice so I'm going to give it the run of the house here. I'm only going to change the resolution to 800x600 at this time. I only want to really test this with the resolutions that this game can handle anyway (1280x1024, 1440x900, 1680x1050, etc). The Visual settings are set to 16-bit (I guess it's actually that switches but that's what it says in the description) but the colors look good, the shadows look good, and the angles look good (it doesn't look pixelated at all with those viewing angles, in fact I think its very smooth and buttery. 5ec8ef588b
